United States

The Appalachian Telemental Health Network is a government-sponsored program that has created a telebehavioral health HIPASS-secure, referral and treatment ecosystem. The State of Virginia and partners sponsor this set of online solutions aimed to serve Virginia's mental and behavioral health shortage areas.

As a Provider, you can join the program to provide telebehavioral health services and be referred to.

As an Individual/Patient, you will have access to a broad spectrum of Virginia licensed telebehavioral health professionals wherever you are.
